MAY DAY

In London we celebrate May Day – International Workers Day-on 1st May. We celebrate our struggles. Our achievements. Our work that makes the country work.

Our three constant themes are Trade Union Rights, Human Rights, International Solidarity.

This year we want to highlight practical solidarity with migrant workers. We want to fight their exploitation by employers. We oppose the legal restrictions on trade union solidarity frustrating action to support migrant workers.

We renew our demand to remove the anti-union laws. To defeat racism and fascism. Against the destruction of manufacturing industry. Against the attacks on our public services. We salute those taking action around May Day .

We continue our work for international trade union action in the face of the growing power of the multinationals in the global economy. We recognise that global system's threat to our environment.

On 1st May workers around the world will be out on May Day. Many risk their lives or freedom to do so. It is our day to express our demands, our successes, ourselves. We have won much by years of struggle but those achievements are under constant threat – such as the NHS, our public services and basic freedoms. We have to fight to keep them.

We call for May1st to be a public holiday. A trade union demand for over 40 years.

Support May Day 2007. Organise for fellow workers to take part. Show May Day solidarity and unite around the May Day demands.

Support workers in struggle.
